SUMMER 2026

THE JOY WE GROW

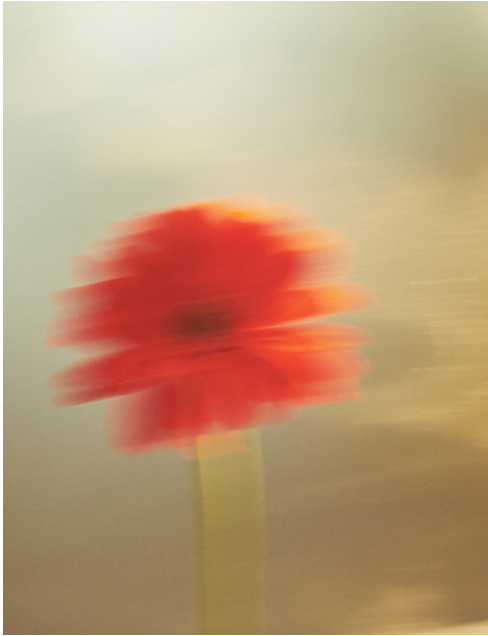

FOR SUMMER 2026, LAFAYETTE 148 PRESENTS A COLLECTION GROUNDED IN THE TACTILE DELIGHTS OF GARDENING, WHERE WORKWEAR MEETS WILDFLOWERS IN ELEGANT FULL BLOOM.

Taking root in the meditative practice of gardening, the collection explores refining the natural wildness of a summer country garden through Lafayette 148's minimalist aesthetic. The uniform of the gardener is translated in workwear jackets and an abundance of poplin, while flower bed grid structures and a vivid, petal-inspired palette are all softened with a romantic sensibility in gauzy neutrals and delicate floral embroidery.
